

WILSON OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

ADDRESSES FARMERS ON PROTECTIVE TARIFF

His Indictment Is That It Represents Only Special Partnerships

BLOOMFESTER, N. J. Aug. 15.—Under the glare of a hot sun, thousands of farmers massed about Governor Wilson here today and heard him make his first campaign speech since he was officially notified of his nomination for the presidency.

The governor spoke extemporaneously at Washington park, where the farmers of New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania were participating in "farmers' day" celebration. The candidate dwelt almost upon the protective tariff, which he called "the restrictive tariff," attacking Senator Aldrich and his tariff-making associates, pointed out the benefits of a merchant marine in connection with the Panama canal and blamed the influence of express companies in preventing the adoption of a parcels post.

The governor was frequently interrupted by applause and cheers. When he finished many farmers crowded forward to shake his hand.

Governor Wilson said in part: "I am interested in politics not as a searcher for office, but as a great content devoted to something very definite and practical. Politics ought not to be considered as a mere occasion foratory—it ought to be considered as a branch of the national business, and a man who talks politics ought to tell his fellow citizens very distinctly what he thinks about their affairs and what his own attitude toward them is."

Related cablegrams received at the state department from American Minister Weitzel give a vivid picture of the conflict at Managua, which began Sunday morning when General Zeledón, in command of the rebel forces around Managua, opened fire on the city from the vicinity of Momotombo.

Describes the Conflict.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon in a urgent officers, General Merrill and Colonel Rosstran, attacked the gendarmery with infantry and rapid-fire guns in an attempt to liberate the prisoners and at 8 o'clock 190 men, under cover of artillery, attempted to enter the city from the lake, but were repulsed and 25 of them were captured.

At 6 o'clock Monday morning Zeeland renewed the attack, firing shell and solid shot from a three-inch rifle into the city at the rate of 20 an hour directed principally toward the president's palace. Only one projectile struck the executive mansion. The Chilean consul and the house of Miraflores, the American consulate general, the American legation, the residence of customs, were hit and the residence of the German consul suffered severely. The American guard estimated that a total of 200 shells fell into the city, resulting in the death and wounding of 12.

During the bombardment General Thomas attempted to take the government position at La Loma. After an engagement lasting two hours, the fire of government forces compelled the rebels to withdraw. Later they resumed firing upon the city and government forces planted field pieces 2,900 yards east of the American legation, while two of the government bombs protected the lake front. Under the government's cannonading the rebel forces retreated until evening, when they continued to drop shells into the city during the night. The casualties are reported heavy, particularly among the rebels. The government captured 25,000 rounds of ammunition and two

EXPLORERS RETURNING

DAWSON, Y. T., Aug. 15.—Two men who arrived from the mouth of the Mackenzie river by trail yesterday, report that Vilhjalm Stefansson and Dr. R. M. Anderson of Iowa, who have been in the Arctic region more than four years for the American museum of natural history making ethnological studies have embarked on a whaling vessel for Seattle, some by way of Point Barrow. It is presumed that the explorers will land at Nome or some other Alaska port and take a steamer for the remainder of the voyage. The explorers left New York city in April, 1908, for Hudson bay and nothing was heard from them until September 1, 1911, when a letter was received in New York saying that they would return in 1912, with complete surveys of Langston bay, Horton river and several uncharted regions. On the south coast of Victoria land Stefansson found a race of blonde Eskimos.

Bagdad has opened bids for installing an electric lighting plant and the army post is considering a telephone system for the whole city.

FINISH DENVER END OF SUGAR HEARING

Government Attorneys Declare They Have Proved All Ex- pected to in State

DENVER, Aug. 15.—Testimony in the government's suit to dissolve the "Sugar trust" was concluded in Den- ver, today, when adjournment was taken by the special examining board to meet in New York, September 16. Attorneys for the government today declared that they had proved every- thing they expected to show in Colo- rado, and are well satisfied with the testimony adduced here.

When the hearing resumed, this morning, Thomas H. Tulley, who yes- terday refused to divulge the gist of a conversation had between himself and L. K. Atkin, former director of the Longmont Sugar company, rela- tive to the establishment of a beet sugar factory in Durango, relented and again took the witness stand. Tulley declared that the substance of the conversation he had with Atkin was to the effect that if Ward Darley, who was attempting to promote a scheme for the construction of a sugar factory at Durango, was opposed to the sugar combine he (Darley) would be forced to "come to them"—the sugar interests with which Atkin was affiliated, and which was shown by evidence to be under the domination of the American Sugar and Refining company.

Relates Atkin Conversation.

Tulley testified that Atkin had told him that he was in close touch with C. K. Roettcher, a bank director of Durango, and that the latter had told him that the sugar combine "wanted the Colorado territory all to them- selves." He reiterated the statement made yesterday, that John L. McNeill, vice president of the First National bank of Durango, had received tele- phonic information from Denver to put a damper on the Durango fac- tory.

Arthur Ponsford, attorney for the Denver National bank, denied that representatives of the Sugar trust had ever met in his office to discuss the project of Ward Darley to establish a factory in Durango, but admitted that he had discussed the feasibility of the plan with Mr. Darley, in the course of which he said he told Dar- ley that he could not do it on the lines proposed, on account of obstacles and that the railroad facilities were inad- equate to make it pay.

John L. McNeill and J. A. McClay, manager of the Durango Light and Power company, were witnesses, the latter admitting that he had informed Darley of the movement to kill the Durango factory scheme. Atkin de- nial that he had telephoned McNeill regarding the proposed factory at Durango.

tried that case and a large number of people of America would have believed honestly if these men had been hanged that they were guiltless. I know it and you know it. And I could if you had hanged those men and other men you would not have changed the opinion of hardly a man in America, excepting to settle in the hearts of a great mass of men a hatred so deep so profound that it would never die away.

Will Be Cleared Up Some Time.

"So it would have ended and what would have been the result? Men would have taken their lives in their hands to avenge a wrong to their class.

"And I took the responsibility, gentlemen. Maybe I did wrong. I took it and the matter was disposed of and the question set at rest. Here and there I got praise for what was called a heroic act, but where I got one word of praise I got a thousand words of blame and I stood under that for a year.

"This trial has helped clear it up. It will be cleared up, if not in time for me to profit by it in time for my descendants to know it.

"I know the crowd. In a way I love them; in a way I despise them. I know the unreasoning, unthinking men. I have been their idol and I have gone down into the depth of the valley and heard them hiss at my name—this same mob, but I have summoned much devotion and such courage as God has given me and I have gone on my path."

pointment of John C. Eversman, sec- retary to Congressman William B. McKinley, as assistant secretary of the national committee. Announcement was also made of the appointment of Walter H. Wilson of Chicago, as assist- ant treasurer.

Mr. Hilles said it was expected Chi- cago would be made the chief head- quarters of the national committee.

Work at the headquarters of the new Progressive party practically marked time awaiting the return of United States Senator Joseph M. Dixon, Medill McCormick and other leaders from conferences in New York. Plans were made for meetings on Saturday.

No arrangements have been com- pleted for the opening of Democratic headquarters. Joseph C. Davies of Wisconsin, who had been expected to make a speech at the national com- mittee, will not be present. P. C. Cavanagh, secretary of the national committee, departed with William A. Lyons and others on a cruise to Mackinac and Sault Ste. Marie. He said he knew little of the plans for the opening of headquarters.

Girl Inmates Idaho
Industrial School
Tell of Floggings

SAN ANTHONY, Ida., Aug. 15.—More than 14 girls told, today, of floggings with straps, at the State Industrial school investigation. Iva Horvath, testified that the superintendent beat her with a strap as she lay over a counter, with her body harnessed from the waist down. Thirteen other female inmates said the superintendent had whipped them. Gladys Chapman swore that her hips had been beaten black and blue by the matron, who hung her over a bathtub. Cayenne pepper was used by Miss Leary, a nurse in the hospital, to punish the girls, according to other witnesses.

War Veteran Will Receive
Pensions Within a Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Within the next week the thousands of war veterans who have received no pensions since the beginning of the present fiscal year, July 1, will get their government warrants. Both house and senate today agreed to the pension bill, which has been thrown like a shuttle between the two houses since last February. The measure carried $160,000,000 to pay the pensioners.

The president probably will sign the bill tomorrow and by Saturday the pension bureau will be in a whirl of industry mailing out checks.

NEWEST CARLZEN MURDER
CLEW CONSIDERED BEST

Denver Police Learn of Recent Assault in Which Assailant Resembled Man Who Followed Music Teacher

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 15.—Although more than 100 suspects have been arrested in connection with the murder of Signora A. Carlzen, in Montclair, Friday night, the police tonight abandoned all clues for a new one, which developed the fact that a 14-year-old girl was assaulted in the vicinity of the Carlzen murder about four weeks ago. The name of the victim is being withheld.

A minute description of the assailant of the girl has been given the police, and it is said to tally with that of a man who for two weeks prior to the murder persistently followed Miss Carlzen. A systematic search is now being made for this man, and the police said tonight that they expected to have him in custody within 24 hours.

The police value the new information because, in their opinion, it establishes the fact definitely that the murderer has been "proving" around Montclair for at least a month.

Nicholas Adams, a deaf mute, arrested as a suspect, today proved an alibi, and "William the Apostle," arrested in Colorado Springs, yesterday, has also convinced the police that he is not the murderer. The police admit that the Carlzen murder mystery is the most baffling in recent crime annals of the city.

RAID ALLEGED OPIUM DEN

The police at 2 o'clock this (Friday) morning raided the house at 610 North Royer street and arrested Grace Kinnie and Lillie Thompson and C. Foucet, all colored, on a charge of operating an opium den.

The three have been under close watch for some time, and when they were seen to enter the house, this morning the raid was made. The police state that they found the three smoking and found a number of pipes and cards of hop in the house.

The case will come up in police court this morning.

OROZCO ANXIOUS FOR PEACE, SAYS MINISTER

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 15.—Dr. Henry Allen Tupper of Brooklyn, representative of the international peace forum, who interviewed Orozco at Juarez last week, was in Dallas today on route to Washington.

"In his interview with me, Orozco said he is very anxious for peace, and will not insist upon Madero's retirement," said Dr. Tupper. "He said he will not make that an ultimatum but will insist on certain reforms such as the discontinuance of despotism on the part of Madero."

Dr. Tupper exhibited a personal letter by Orozco in which the latter said "he vehemently was anxious for peace." He also exhibited, but not for perusal, a 2,000-word statement which he said set out the conditions on which Orozco will agree to cease his revolution. Dr. Tupper said the contents of this statement may be given out for publication when he reaches Washington.

"In this statement Orozco makes concessions which he has never before made, and I believe they may be the basis for peace," Dr. Tupper said.

Street gas lamps were first used in London in 1807.

"DISORDERLY HOUSE TRUST"
DISCOVERED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Raids on disorderly houses were made by the police tonight. Twenty-three prisoners were taken.

Agents have been busy for three weeks, securing evidence against what is termed the "disorderly house trust," conducted, it is declared, by five widely known tenderloin clubs. District Attorney Whitman says the evidence obtained indicated that the "trust" is a "clearing house" where women are exchanged.

NEW-YORK CITY MAY BE CAPTURED IN MIMIC WAR

STRAFORD, Conn., Aug. 15.—The red and blue armies slept within five miles of each other last night and today began preparations for the big battle that will decide the fate of New York city.

Tomorrow the reds will advance and General Bliss, commander of the department of the east, who hitherto has directed the movements of both armies during the period of instruction, will leave the opposing commanders to work out the problem in their own way and as chief umpire try to decide which wins the concluding general engagement.

Woman Novelist Tells California Women They Should Support Wilson

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, the California novelist, "took the stump" in a big hotel here tonight to tell California's newly enfranchised women why, in her opinion, they should vote for Woodrow Wilson. She had a large crowd, some of the women sitting two deep in the spindly-legged chairs.

Mrs. Atherton delivered an attack upon Colonel Roosevelt, and a like defense of Mr. Wilson. She said in part: "Seventy years ago Charlotte Bronte invented Roosevelt in the character of Rochester. Since that time women have loved Rochester, the man who was 100 per cent male. I confess that I have a sneaking affection for the type. Rochester was a colossal bluffer—the self-sufficient man. Roosevelt is of that sort."

"Woodrow Wilson is a man who always exercises self-control. He will never be found acting like a bull moose. It will never be possible to call Woodrow Wilson 'Woody' as Roosevelt is called 'Teddy'."

"Recently Mr. Roosevelt burst out for suffrage for women. Wilson is opposed to women suffrage, and is too honest to say that he is for it. He has a few old-fashioned prejudices. But the best way to correct them is to vote for Wilson and convince him by that means that suffrage for women is a good thing."

Mrs. Atherton said that Socialism was becoming fashionable in New York.

No American city, says the Scientific American, has a pneumatic tube system (for postal use) comparable with that of Paris or Berlin. "The average Parisian tube letter," it asserts, is delivered in an hour and a quarter after it is posted.

New and Scientific Treatment for Tuberculosis

ADVANCED BY ONE OF COLO-RADO SPRINGS' LEADING PHYSICIANS

A new idea in regard to the treatment of tuberculosis has been brought out by Dr. A. S. Shepard of this city. The old-fashioned idea that consumption is incurable has been changed by a good many of the leading physicians of this country and of Europe. Now it is claimed that consumption in the early stages can be cured by outdoor living and forced diet. This effort to cure patients by fresh air and diet has resulted very favorably in a good many cases, especially in the first stage; but when that fails, something more radical must be done and nature must be aided along her own lines to bring about an arrest of the disease. As soon as the lungs become diseased, from any cause, they fail to take in the normal amount of air, consequently the blood fails to get its normal amount of oxygen, and as oxygen is the life of the blood, the sensible thing to do is to furnish the patient with oxygen in such form that it can be readily assimilated. When the blood fails to get its normal amount of oxygen, the patient loses flesh and strength, the tubercle bacilli increase and spread without anything to check them until the lungs are destroyed, and during this process, the patient grows weaker and weaker and the cough increases until they become very much emaciated. This new process which has been used so successfully in all cases in Colorado Springs, supplies the oxygen to the patient in such a way that it can be assimilated and taken into the blood, and after the normal percent of oxygen in the blood has been restored, the patient improves, and a very large percent of cases keep up their improvement until the disease is arrested. This new method of treating tuberculosis is certainly very unlike anything that has been brought out before, and so far has offered help to those who have failed to improve by methods that have long been tried.

Made Suicide Pact With Young Stepdaughter But Lost Nerve After Murder

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Aug. 15.—Charles E. Greenfield, aged 35, who killed his 8-year-old stepdaughter, Vivian Greenfield, in a rooming house at Venice, Tuesday afternoon, was captured in Cucamonga pass, and is now in the county jail here. He will be taken to Los Angeles tomorrow.

"We had a suicide agreement," said Greenfield, in describing the murder of Vivian. "I suggested it long ago, on account of the treatment both of us received from my wife."

"When we left home to go to Venice, we had agreed to jump off the end of the pier into the ocean. After we reached the pier, we saw too many people there, and decided to go to a rooming house, where we agreed I should cut her throat and then end my own life."

After securing a room, I drew the razor from my pocket. Just as I was about to draw the blade across Vivian's throat, she looked at me, put her arms around my neck and kissed me, and said: 'We will both soon be gone.'"

"I drew the blade across her throat, and, seeing the blood, lost my nerve and could not kill myself."

At this point Greenfield's voice became little more than a mumble. Recovering his composure, the prisoner said he knew but little of what happened after he killed the girl. He declared that he walked to Los Angeles that night, wandered around the streets for several hours, and then started to walk to San Bernardino, where his father lived.

The proprietor of a store at Buwanda recognized Greenfield from pictures he had seen in the Los Angeles papers, when the fugitive asked for a loaf of bread, early today, and notified the authorities.

Rebel Troops Desert

making in all, according to the official figures, 10,000 men moving to reclaim the border territory. To locate the federals to the south, a scouting party of 50 rebels was dispatched by train today along the Central.

Coupled with the military move on the part of the federal government is the political blow effective on August 25 in the suspension of guarantees. On that day the federal government will guarantee no trial to prisoners of war. Until that time the rebels may accept amnesty from the federal government, being promised immunity if they lay down their arms. While the amnesty is confused with armistice by many of the rebel soldiers, it is believed the nearing date of the suspension of the guarantees will play some part in the condition through the territory in arms.

No Immediate Peace in Sight.

The situation throughout Mexico, however, does not indicate the possibility of immediate peace in any event. Generals Inez Salazar and Antonio Rojas, Orozco's former right-hand councilmen, are moving west, with no apparent intention of assisting their former chief, and Rojas is far in the interior of Sonora, at last reports, making for the west coast. To the south in the state of Morelos the rebel leader, Emiliano Zapata, is pursuing successful guerrilla warfare against the federals, and it was announced at Orozco's headquarters here today that the Zapatistas are working in conjunction with the followers of Orozco. A letter from Zapata, offering cooperation with Orozco, was produced as evidence by the general's secretary. A junction with Zapata is looked upon by the rebels here as most desirable, but how this could be done, let alone Orozco's escape from the federal forces approaching from the south, is purely speculative.

"If we only could secure ammunition, the revolution would triumph," declared Colonel Cordova, secretary to Orozco, and the rebel commander-in-chief nodded assent in an interview late today. The secretary referred to the activity of the United States troops in protecting the border from the "ammunition runner." The rebels are admittedly short of ammunition, and this problem together with the hostility of the advancing government forces, and the pending suspension of guarantees, makes their condition complex.

Refugees Leaving El Paso

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 15.—Conference officials of the Mormon colonies in northern Mexico arrived today in no decision except that the return to Mexico would be left to the individual refugees. Seventy-five men and women today took advantage of the $100,000 appropriation by congress and were issued transportation by authorities at Fort Bliss to go to their new homes in Utah and other northwestern states. There remain about 800 Mormon refugees in El Paso and about 500 in the camp at Hachita, N. M.

New Submarine Launched

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—The United States submarine "G-4," the first of its type to be built in this country, was launched at the Cramp ship yards today. The boat, built for a moment, and two of the 50 workmen on board were thrown into the water. They were picked up by a boat. The "G-4" is 157 feet 3 1/2 inches over all; 17 feet 4 inches beam; displacement, 335 tons, when in surface cruising condition, and 458 tons submerged.

Her armament consists of four torpedo tubes and eight 18-inch torpedoes, having a range of about 5,000 yards. The vessel is propelled on the surface by four six-cylinder gasoline engines, and by electricity when submerged. A surface speed of 13 knots.

Panama-California
Exposition Grounds
Present Busy Scene

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 15.—Jumping her bet from $1,000,000 to $3,500,000, San Diego has given her exposition project new life. Activity is seen in every portion of the great park in which the exposition is being built.

One part is a big gang of men, teams, plows, scrapers and other machinery following close behind the "dynamite gang." This "gang" drills from one to 300 eight-foot holes in the ground along a given line, loads each hole with five pounds of dynamite and "shoots" earth and rocks into the air, breaking up the ground so that plowing and scraping is rapid and easy. Each grading crew has a "dynamite gang," as this method is cheaper and much quicker than the old method.

In another section of the big park is the wonderful flower farm. Ferns, vines and young trees fill hot houses, lath houses, cold frames and plantations that cover acres in extent. In a guarded pen, like little animals that might get away, are hundreds of tiny rose bushes that were cuttings last spring. These are the entrants for the $1,000 prize offered by the management for a new rose. The tiny cuttings are so strong and virile, so healthy and ready to bloom, that they have not waited as a rose usually does, but began blooming just as soon as their tiny roots caught hold on the soil.

Over on the opposite side of the park is another gang busy with the work of the huge bridge, a concrete structure 384 feet long, 120 feet high and 100 feet wide that connects the city with the park directly at the center of the great tract. Each of the pedestals, or piers, of this bridge will carry millions of pounds "load," so that the foundations themselves are a great task.

The administration building is filled with officials and experts, clerks and stenographers, all right on the site itself and busy with the work of preparation. This work will not flag a moment until the exposition is opened January 1, 1916, and much work will continue during that year, for the exposition is to be kept open until midnight December 31, a tribute to what has been called the most delightful climate in the world, that of San Diego.

making in all, according to the official figures, 10,000 men moving to reclaim the border territory. To locate the federals to the south, a scouting party of 50 rebels was dispatched by train today along the Central.

Coupled with the military move on the part of the federal government is the political blow effective on August 25 in the suspension of guarantees. On that day the federal government will guarantee no trial to prisoners of war. Until that time the rebels may accept amnesty from the federal government, being promised immunity if they lay down their arms. While the amnesty is confused with armistice by many of the rebel soldiers, it is believed the nearing date of the suspension of the guarantees will play some part in the condition through the territory in arms.

No Immediate Peace in Sight.

The situation throughout Mexico, however, does not indicate the possibility of immediate peace in any event. Generals Inez Salazar and Antonio Rojas, Orozco's former right-hand councilmen, are moving west, with no apparent intention of assisting their former chief, and Rojas is far in the interior of Sonora, at last reports, making for the west coast. To the south in the state of Morelos the rebel leader, Emiliano Zapata, is pursuing successful guerrilla warfare against the federals, and it was announced at Orozco's headquarters here today that the Zapatistas are working in conjunction with the followers of Orozco. A letter from Zapata, offering cooperation with Orozco, was produced as evidence by the general's secretary. A junction with Zapata is looked upon by the rebels here as most desirable, but how this could be done, let alone Orozco's escape from the federal forces approaching from the south, is purely speculative.

"If we only could secure ammunition, the revolution would triumph," declared Colonel Cordova, secretary to Orozco, and the rebel commander-in-chief nodded assent in an interview late today. The secretary referred to the activity of the United States troops in protecting the border from the "ammunition runner." The rebels are admittedly short of ammunition, and this problem together with the hostility of the advancing government forces, and the pending suspension of guarantees, makes their condition complex.

Refugees Leaving El Paso

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 15.—Conference officials of the Mormon colonies in northern Mexico arrived today in no decision except that the return to Mexico would be left to the individual refugees. Seventy-five men and women today took advantage of the $100,000 appropriation by congress and were issued transportation by authorities at Fort Bliss to go to their new homes in Utah and other northwestern states. There remain about 800 Mormon refugees in El Paso and about 500 in the camp at Hachita, N. M.

New Submarine Launched

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—The United States submarine "G-4," the first of its type to be built in this country, was launched at the Cramp ship yards today. The boat, built for a moment, and two of the 50 workmen on board were thrown into the water. They were picked up by a boat. The "G-4" is 157 feet 3 1/2 inches over all; 17 feet 4 inches beam; displacement, 335 tons, when in surface cruising condition, and 458 tons submerged.

Her armament consists of four torpedo tubes and eight 18-inch torpedoes, having a range of about 5,000 yards. The vessel is propelled on the surface by four six-cylinder gasoline engines, and by electricity when submerged. A surface speed of 13 knots.

NEW YORK'S MAYOR UNDER FIRE

The peculiar stand taken by Mayor Gagner in regard to the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler-informer, and the ensuing revelations regarding the corrupt conditions existing in the police department has caused him to become the center of the attack of the New York newspapers. By his statements, the fact that Lieutenant Charles A. Becker, of the police, had eaten dinner in company with Rosenthal appeared to scandalize the mayor considerably more than the actual murder and the charge that it took place with the cognizance of certain crooked police officials, who feared exposure at the hands of Rosenthal.

PLACES LAND AT THE DISPOSAL OF BURBANK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The senate today passed a bill placing at the disposal of Father Burbank 12 sections of land in California, New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada for the propagation of the spineless cacti. The bill provides that if Burbank succeeds in growing on this semiarid land cacti suitable for animal food, for a period of two years, the land shall be sold to him for the regular $1.50 an acre government price. The bill already passed the house.

"BIG BATTLE" IMMINENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—The "Red" invading army and the "Blue" defending army were approaching the battlefield of Coyote, in the Santa Clara valley, where the big and final engagement of the Pacific coast war game will be fought.

The men received a shock yesterday when ball cartridges were discovered in the belt of a member of Company M, Seventh infantry, from Riverside. An inspection of all ammunition was ordered.

MORGANTON, N. C., Aug. 15.—Reig, Gen. Edward Mortimer Hays, U. S. A., retired, familiarly known as "Fighting Jack," Hays, died today.

General Hays served in the Civil war, on the frontier in many Indian battles, and in Cuba and in the Philippines.

Several ladies have asked General Hays to establish a women's law school in order to promote the political education of women as a preliminary step to giving them a voice in the Parliament. It is reported that General Hays has told them that the time is not yet ripe for women to learn law.

SUSPECT TAKEN TO DENVER

"William, the Apostle," arrested here Wednesday for investigation in connection with the Carlisle murder near Denver last Friday night, was taken to Denver yesterday by Assistant Chief Layden of that city.

He was put through a rigid examination in Denver, but the only grilling by the police there brought no more information than was secured here following several hours of questioning Wednesday afternoon and evening. The old man thus far has refused to answer direct questions as to his identity, and practically no more is known about him now than when he was first picked up.

The police department here yesterday received a telephone message from Miss Nellie McShane, a Monument young woman. She saw the apostle's picture in yesterday's Gazette, and identified it as a photograph of the man who had demanded breakfast from her last Tuesday morning about 7 o'clock. The man became enraged when food was not placed before him immediately and went to a house next door. Here he inquired Miss McShane's name, and said he would return some time and kill her.

According to the Denver police, two lunchers taken from the prisoner here and sent to that city because of supposed blood stains upon them, cannot be identified. It is also said the marks on them are not blood stains.

STATE SESSION CLOSES

The annual session of the grand lodge of F. A. M. (referred) which opened in Colorado Springs last Friday morning closed yesterday afternoon with the election of officers.

The following officers were elected: Dr. S. D. Douglas, Pueblo; Mr. W. G. M. George, Canon City; Victor R. W. D. M. R. R. Young, Pueblo; R. W. G. S. W. C. Williams, Las. Colorado Springs; R. W. G. J. W. J. R. Conner, Denver; R. W. G. Treasurer, William Sprague, Denver; R. W. G. Secretary, S. N. Nelson, Pueblo; G. trustee.

Grand function was chosen as the next meeting place. Resolutions of gratitude to Pike's Peak lodge No. 2, Order of Eastern Star, and officers of Pike's chapel, were adopted.

Mrs. Anna Wilson, aged 86, mother of Mrs. F. H. Pettigall of this city, died at her home in Denver, Wednesday night. Mrs. and Mrs. Pettigall went to Denver yesterday morning to attend the funeral.

Funeral services of Theodore P. Brack, who died Tuesday night at his home, 808 East Chippewa street, will be held from the Hallett & Baker undertaking rooms, tonight at 7:30 o'clock, under the auspices of Colorado Springs post No. 22, G. A. R. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery, tomorrow morning, and will be private.

The funeral of Mrs. Alexander Leimer, 1625 Wood avenue, who died last Monday from the effects of accidental poisoning, was held from the undertaking rooms of Hallett & Baker yesterday morning. The Rev. Gibson Holt officiating. Services were private.

SCORE ZAPATISTAS KILLED

CUERNAVACA, Mex., Aug. 15.—Twenty-seven partisans of Zapata were killed yesterday in a fight with a detachment of federal troops commanded by Col. Jimenez Castro, at Teotihuacan, 25 miles south of here. The federalists succeeded in dispersing the rebels, according to the report brought in by the military train, which returned here today. Twenty of the federal soldiers were wounded.

The troop train, carrying 150 federal soldiers, doubled back here, escorting 12 cases of ammunition and two rapid fire field guns, intended by the government for the southern campaign.

The late Admiral Melville left $150,000 to provide a home for deserving and aged poor persons. This bequest, however, has been declared void under the laws of Pennsylvania, which provide that charitable bequests by codicil must be made 30 days prior to death. Admiral Melville survived only 24 days after making the bequest.

ASK FOR GUARDIAN FOR RICH BUT ECCENTRIC MAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—Walter A. McCreary, polo player, clubman, and scion of a wealthy pioneer family, is suffering from a nervous breakdown, according to his attorneys, and Superior Judge Thomas P. Graham has been petitioned to appoint a guardian for him. Judge Graham set next Wednesday for the hearing.

McCreary has been in trouble before because of his eccentricities, and has achieved publicity through his domestic troubles. His wife, who is the daughter of Major McAdam of the British army, living in Sherborn, England, secured a property settlement of $50,000 from him when they separated, and later, when he failed to fulfill his agreement to pay her $1,000 per month, another settlement of $10,000.

McCreary has just arrived from London, and on the trip from New York wore a fur coat, a linen duster, a Panama hat, a shawl, and a knit muffler. The sleeves of his various garments were rolled up to the elbow of one arm and one trouser's leg to the knee. Instead of shoes he wore bedroom slippers.

The petition to have him declared incompetent is a friendly one, instituted by H. R. McPike, for many years attorney for the family.

ALLEGED PLOTIER AGAINST CHINESE REPUBLIC ARRESTED

HONGKONG, China, Aug. 15.—The Chinese manager of a secret society of revolutionaries whose headquarters are in Kwan Tung province, was arrested today and sent to prison. Documents and badges found on him indicated that the revolutionaries had selected their own officials to succeed those at present holding positions under the Chinese government.

A great sensation has been caused in Chinese circles here by the discovery of a revolutionary conspiracy. When Lloyd insures a ship or its cargo, with the understanding that any loss will be replaced, agents of the company follow every movement of the vessel until it reaches its final destination.

GRAND JURY AWAITS THE TESTIMONY OF SCHEPPS. "HIGHER UPS" ARE ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—At the request of District Attorney Whitman, the grand jury today withheld the filing of its pending indictments against the murderers of Herman Rosenthal, in order to hear the testimony of Sam Schepps, now on his way here from Hot Springs, Ark. The district attorney expects Schepps, who is said to have been a passenger on the "assassination car," will add interesting details to the manner in which the murder was planned, which will strengthen the true bills contemplated against "Gib the Blood," "Dago" Frank Crofetti, "Whitey" Lewis and "Lefty" Louie, the alleged murder crew.

Schepps is expected here Saturday and will go before the grand jury Tuesday.

Threatened with death if they revealed information regarding the three men "higher up" in the gambling graft scandal, "Bridget" Webber and Harry Vallon, two of the associates of "Bald Jack" Rose, may prove to be recalcitrant witnesses.

The two prisoners are confronted by possible indictments charging them with the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, unless they tell the whole truth. The two prisoners tried to determine today what course to pursue.

Ordered to Sacrifice Becker.

Webber and Vallon have been "reached" and told, according to Vallon's counsel, to throw Police Lieutenant Becker to the wolves, but to shield the names of the three men now regarded by the state's attorney as directors of the graft system. District Attorney Whitman is letting the two prisoners themselves decide what attitude they will take.

James M. Sullivan, Vallon's lawyer, says that for some time messengers from those higher up and from certain police inspectors have surreptitiously visited Vallon and Webber in their cells, and told them they might tell what they pleased about Becker, but if they informed on the big fellows they might as well make away with themselves, as they would meet death later. Mr. Sullivan said, after seeing District Attorney Whitman:

"Whitman has made a case against Becker and none of Becker's blackmailing employers seem to care a hang about Becker's situation. In fact, they have sent word to Rose, Webber, and Vallon to throw Becker to the wolves. But they are determined that their own names shall not be brought out."

Rose will make good, but Webber and Vallon have been reached and I am afraid they have made up their minds to weaken. I have told Vallon that he is not playing square and that I will no longer act as his counsel."

Declares Becker Was Ready to Act.

In the confession of "Bald Jack" Rose, as prepared by the gambler for District Attorney Whitman, and printed this morning with Rose's own spelling and punctuation, Rose declares that Becker had decided to kill Rosenthal himself if others had not done the work. After the murder Rose says he met Becker by appointment near the scene of the killing. In his written confession, Rose says:

"I opened the conversation by saying: 'My God, Charlie, this is horrible. There will be — to pay.' He said: 'What is the matter?' Don't worry, leave all that to me. I asked: 'Have you seen him?' and he said: 'Yes, I saw the squealing — I would have liked to take my knife out and cut a piece of his tongue out and hang it on the building as a warning to possible future traitors.' He said: 'Well, I was saved the trouble of doing it myself. I became tired waiting for you fellows to get the gang to do it, so I decided to do it myself.'"

I asked him how. Well, he said: after I left Jack Sullivan I instructed Otto to drive by the Metropole and to slow down without stopping. I intended if Rosenthal was there to take out my gun, blaze at him and tell Otto to keep going, but he wasn't there."

The grand jury was prepared to resume its investigation into the Rosenthal case today. District Attorney Whitman's assistants are making an investigation of real estate transactions, information having come to the state's attorney that within the last year one police inspector has invested more than $200,000 in choice uptown lots.

Schepps Leaves for New York.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 15.—Sam Schepps, wanted as a material witness in the Herman Rosenthal murder case in New York city, left here at 7:15 o'clock in charge of Assistant District Attorney Rubin and his detectives.

It was not until late yesterday that Schepps made up his mind to return to New York with Assistant District Attorney Rubin. Probably the arrival of Stewart, a prosecutor's detective, impelled the decision. Stewart and plenty of credentials and after he talked with Schepps, the prisoner consented to start. Schepps seemed to have made many partisans during his visit in Hot Springs. Led by Mrs. Pettit, the wife of the acting mayor, many of the leading women bade the New Yorker good-by. They invited him to visit Hot Springs when he could come under more agreeable circumstances.

Rubin maintained his decision to obey the instructions of District Attorney Whitman not to announce the route to be taken or the probable time of arrival in New York.

as big a proportion of the tariff duties as anybody else. Indeed, sometimes when we are challenged to say who the consumer is as contrasted with the producer, so far as the tariff is concerned, I am tempted to answer the "farmer," because he does not produce any of the things that get any material benefit from the tariff and he consumes all the things that are taxed under the tariff system."

TITLED WOMAN DEMOCRATIC.

"The day will come when no one will be grateful for the crumbs that fall from the rich man's table," said the Duchess of Sutherland, speaking recently at Ponten, in the potteries. "Years ago, when I came inexperienced and enthusiastic about you, you called me 'Meddlesome Minnie.' As far as a miserable duchess could be an agitator I strove to be one. But what changes since those days! Slowly, definitely, the aspiring democracy demands the open road. The very mansion-Trentons, in which I nursed my ideals is razed to the ground and the place is open to the public. I live in a cottage in peace and independence, as a friend among the workers for whom I strove so many years ago. Is that not enough to make one optimistic?"

Since January 16 it has been a misadventure to throw a piece of waste paper upon a Paris street. If a policeman sees you drop a piece of paper he walks up to you, puts you on the shoulder, begs your pardon for his dressing you, and tells you you have violated the law and asks you to pick up what you have thrown down.

ARMS COVERED WITH RINGWORM

Also Around Mouth. Spread Rapidly. Itched and Burned Dreadfully. By Using Cuticura Soap and Ointment Ringworm Disappeared.

2073 Ogden St., Denver, Colo.—"About four years ago I was bothered dreadfully with ringworm around my mouth. I did not pay much attention to it at first, although it looked bad. It spread rapidly and itched and burned dreadfully. The first thing I knew my arms from the elbows down were covered with ringworm, and my face seemed worse."

"I got some medicine which relieved the itching and sort of dried up the ringworm but it kept coming back. I decided to let the medicine go, and I scratched them until they were sore. At that time there must have been four on my face. One extended from the corner of my mouth under my chin. That was the largest one, but the smaller ones looked as bad for they were kept flery red from my scratching. Each of these red blotches was raised about one sixteenth of an inch, and the centers were covered with pieces of dried skin giving them a very rough appearance."

"One day I accidentally got hold of a small piece of Cuticura Soap, and in a few days I noticed how much good it was doing me. I kept on using the Soap, and spoke of it to a friend of mine. She told me of the Cuticura Ointment, and by using both, the ringworm disappeared in a short time." (Signed) Miss Helen Magee, June 11, 1911.

THE MEDITERRANEAN RACES IN AMERICA

From the Nebraska State Journal.

The Mediterranean races exhibit anew in America the power of freed individuals kept down at home by social and political society set centuries ago in old forms which resist popular expansion. Greeks, Syrians and Italians, long lumped together under the appellation of "dagoes" by contemptuous native born Americans, are making good in the industrial competition of this country. Beginning, as nearly all the oppressed emigrants from Europe began, with the hardest and least desirable forms of manual labor, these black haired, olive skinned children of the old civilizations are pushing their way into all the industrial walks of free America. Their methods and their energy may well be studied by the other American stocks who came earlier to are stores. They are past masters in the art of selling goods and making the purchaser believe he is getting a bargain.

They have popularized here some of the foods, notably olive oil, which are valuable additions to the regular American diet. They are giving free exhibitions of intensive cultivation in market gardens and on waste lands which command attention from all who are not too proud to learn. The persistence by the common people which laid the foundations of the old empire about the Mediterranean has new fruit in America when based on fear from political and religious despotism. Nothing has been more marvellous than the development of the down-trodden Irish peasant and laborer in this country. His children are now apt to scorn the "dago" from the south, who is just as sure rising in wealth, intelligence, power and social standing as the Irish have risen in America. The right to think, speak and act, opportunity to acquire property by work, hope in the heart for the future, these make manhood and exalt human nature. These are some of the gifts of the institutions of this country to the oppressed of other lands as well as our own children. These make the Fourth of July worth remembering while they pledge us to new vigilance for the coming problems which threaten our institutions with the fate of those in the older lands.

The advance in methods of wiring says the Electrical Review, has made it possible to install electric light in almost any building without breaking the plaster. Heretofore only buildings in course of construction could be satisfactorily wired but now electricity may be substituted for oil or gas in almost any home without defacement.

BIG MASS MEETING OF AUTO OWNERS

Gather at Chamber Commerce Tonight to Boost Approaching Carnival Parade

Auto owners are invited to a big mass meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, called for the purpose of boosting the automobile parade of the summer carnival. At first it was decided to hold a meeting of all the committee men but now it has been enlarged to have a general meeting of all machine owners.

As Chairman Donaldson says: "We can't expect the visitors to keep this thing up for us. The carnival has been advertised all over the country. The visitors last year had about as many machines in the parade as the home people had and yet they do not have the facilities for decorating that the home people do."

Headquarters for the automobile parade committee are to be opened in the Burns building in the store room on the alley. Perhaps the room can be opened today but certainly by Monday. Committees of young women and men will be in charge constantly. James F. Burns has donated the use of the room to the committee.

There is not much doubt that the visitors will have their machines in line. The Texas club already has accepted, and has a committee working to decorate a machine to compete for the highest prize. Yesterday afternoon Edward Hine of the automobile club attended the Kansas club reunion at Manitou, and specially invited them to come into the parade. It is hoped that the clubs from all the states will get in touch with the committee and not wait to be asked formally.

The automobile parade last year was one of the best advertisements this town has ever had. Newspapers all over the land commented upon it, and used pictures regarding it. The Pikes Peak region is becoming known as the paradise of auto touring. Local people by a little effort can keep it advertised. Denver, Pueblo and other cities of the state are to send large delegations for the parade, but it should be up to the home folks to do most of the decorating. Not only should they get together and arrange for some beautifully decorated cars, but also pick out some amusing stunts, things like the "Old Woman in the Shoe" and the "Suffragette" cars of last year. The likelier a long line of vehicles, the more wonderful. These are some of the reasons why the meeting this evening should be largely attended. In fact so many of the prominent society people have agreed to be there, that there won't be much else going on anyway.

Camp Harding adjoining Stratton park established 20 years modern main building and 10 attractive cottages. Cuisine the best. An ideal spot for particular people to spend a delightful recreational season. Phone Main 970.

THE WERRENATH RECITAL

By ALBERT C. PEARSON.
Reynold Werrenath, by his superb work in his complimentary recital to the members of the Musical club last night at the Unitarian church made his vacation visit in our city a memorable one.

We enjoyed his singing in his winter recital but last night his work was on a still higher plane. It was full of surprises. His variety, his evident sympathy, his keen sense of humor, his subtle reading of the text, the masterly control of his mellow baritone showed him to be a cultivated musician and artist.

His voice is clear, flexible, of individual timbre, capable of delicate nuances and his enunciation is about perfect.

The program was of unusual range, covering the dramatic, the tender, the brilliant, the humorous and the graceful, all done with authority and distinction. He caught his audience at once and held it as was shown by the hearty applause and frequent encores. Perhaps the numbers that called out the greatest enthusiasm were Greg's "Lauf Der Welt," Bruno Hahn's "Invictus," White's "King Charles" and both of the Frederic Auer's songs, the "Ringers" and "Fuzzi-Wuzzi."

Here to you Mr. Werrenath, hoping for other evenings as pleasantly with you in the future. As for Mrs. Hawkins' accompaniment—she was a delight. I've often expressed my appreciation of this lady's work, but I may as well repeat myself and say, in my opinion, and I'm not alone. Mrs. Hawkins must be ranked very high as an accompanist. She supports the singer with rare sympathy and intelligence, and has a touch that blends with the voice in a most satisfactory way.

CARDS DISTRIBUTED

The last post card day of the season was held yesterday, the Chamber of Commerce giving away about 10,000 cards bearing pictures of local scenery. The cards were issued from 17 East Pikes Peak avenue, one of the rooms on the ground floor of the Burns building instead of from the Chamber of Commerce rooms, as usual.

The title of the card used this week is "A Glimpse of Pikes Peak the Sentinel of the Rockies." On the reverse side of the card is a paragraph telling something of the attractions of the region.

ARTIST CONCERTS AT THE BURNS THIS YEAR

Willet R. Willis, president of the Colorado Springs Musical club and the members of the artist series committee have just completed arrangements to give the series of concerts this season in the Burns theater. The change in houses will allow for a much larger seating capacity and the club probably will be able to take care of all out of town patronage this year.

The series will open the evening of October 1 with Alma Gluck soprano and Edwin Schroeder, cellist. Mr. Schroeder appeared here several times as soloist with the Boston Symphony orchestra and as a member of the Knickerbocker quartet.
Between November 19 and 21 Louis Fiedler, the Colorado Springs musician, who promises to become America's greatest violinist will be heard. The exact date of the concert will be announced later.
Sambach and her company will appear January 21 and Ernest Schnelinger pianist will give a concert January 19. He is the pianist who took Fiedler's place at the Chopin celebration in Poland. Miska Elman will give a concert March 1.

WILL IMPROVE MILL

Following a tour of inspection of the Portland mine directors said yesterday that other improvements will be made at the mill at the mine. The plant handles about 500 tons daily, and additions are to be made at once to increase the capacity. The main shaft has been sunk to 120 feet below the 1,500-foot level and a station is being built for the 1,600-foot level leaving 20 feet for a pump. Water was encountered 110 feet below the 1,500-foot level but with the present rate of flow from the portal of the deep drainage tunnel the pump will be dry in a few days.

One from the Portland shipped to the mill here averaged $27 for July, a better average than for the last eight years. About 4,500 tons are shipped to the Colorado Springs mill each month.

SOUVENIRS AT ZOO; PUMPKIN DAY SUNDAY

Every woman who visited Zoo park yesterday afternoon was presented with a beautiful feather fan by the management of the park. This is the first souvenir day that has been held at the resort and proved to be exceedingly popular, about 1,000 people visiting the amusement grounds. Next Sunday will be pumpkin pie day at the Zoo and everyone inside the gates Sunday afternoon will be given all the pumpkin pie they can eat.

THE BI-PARTISAN MACHINE

IT IS a matter of common knowledge in Colorado that Guggenheim Republicans and Speer Democrats have been working together to secure their own ends or the ends of the corporations that finance their political campaigns. The fact that there is a bi-partisan machine in Colorado is notorious.

Regardless of the extensive evidence that demonstrates the existence of a bi-partisan combination some papers and some individuals profess to believe that there is no such thing. They charge that the campaign being made by Progressive Republicans is all sheer fudge because "there is no machine."

A certain newspaper in this community would have its readers believe, not only that there is no bi-partisan machine in Colorado, but that there is no machine of any description whatever, unless it be a Progressive Republican machine. That paper has informed its readers that machine rule in Colorado is nothing but a bogey "which nurses use to frighten children."

For years you have been told that you are living beneath the blighting shade of the political machine. For years its stifling grasp has been at your throat. You may not have felt it, but it was there just the same.

That there is a machine, no one has had the temerity to deny. But as with the bogies which nurses use to frighten children, no positive evidence of its baneful existence has heretofore been produced. It has changed its color with chamberlain-like rapidity. At times it has disappeared entirely as would a five-dollar bill under the mystifying manipulation of the late "Soap" Smith. It has its many aliases as a professional crook. In the old days it was the "Wolcott Machine," later the "Evans Machine," and then the "Guggenheim Machine." For present day purposes and to avoid any chance of its escaping in disguise, the liberal use of the hyphen has been introduced by its enemies so that now it is the Evans-Guggenheim-Stevenson Machine, with other names added wherever necessary to give it local color.

Last winter a book was published entitled "The History of the Government of Denver." It was written by Dr. Clyde L. King, a member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, an impartial investigator, a trained student of political science, and a man whose conclusions are, in every way, worthy of acceptance. In his book, Professor King gives a detailed history of the relation between public service corporations and the governments of the city of Denver and the state of Colorado. He substantiates his conclusions at every point with documentary evidence, such as court decisions, the proceedings of legislative bodies, and quotations from responsible persons. And this is the mature conclusion of an impartial student, based upon the most extensive data that have been collected.

"I think that the proposition that the public service corporations of Colorado have controlled politics, state and city, for their own use is capable of as thorough proof as a proposition of Euclid."

These conclusions of Professor King are worthy of the widest dissemination:

"For nearly two decades and a half, the city's public utilities have been a vital factor in her government, at times, indeed, they have been, in effect, the government of the city. Any study of the city's government must give due consideration to the governmental influences of these corporations. It was in the actual government, not the plan of government that they interested themselves. They 'used' the governmental plan in force, and interested themselves in their own ends, not the city's. It is in the policy forming field, not in the field of the structural plan of government, that their influence has been most pronounced."—(p. 2-3)

"The one force adverse to the development of manufacturers was the unfavorable rates granted by the railroad to local manufacturers. The railroads were interested in keeping Colorado an importing state, in order to profit by the long haul, hence their rates discriminated in favor of Transimissouri manufacturers. The Legislature of 1886 appointed a committee to investigate railroad rates and as a result of this investigation created the office of railroad commissioner. But the railroad interests were, and have ever been, strong enough to prevent the creation of a railroad commissioner with real power."—(p. 3) to the city branch, and hence there was the closest possible alliance between the two. In other words, it was through the Republican party that the interests of the city and the state were to find expression or suppression."—(p. 104)

"The latter years of the period portended a kind of government that was not provided for in the city's organic law—a government by and for public utilities. The electorate had not as yet awakened to the fact that what they had thought to be the machinery of government was tending to become but the registering machinery for the actual government, their public utilities, and that the officers they had chosen were the tools of the city's actual government—were the governed, not the governing. Control of the city council meant money and freedom to the public utility that could control it."—(p. 158-159.)

"The state's industrial corporations had come to act as a unit in state politics, the city's public utilities in city politics. The corporations of state and city now naturally tended to unite their political activities in order to secure the maximum service and protection from both city and state governments. Thus both parties became subservient to the same corporate control."—(p. 291.)

Continued submission to the insolent control of such men as Guggenheim and Speer is not to be thought of. It is intolerable. Therefore, Progressive Republicans have refused to condone the acts of these men, to participate in assemblies, caucuses, or conventions in which they exercise power and control, or to take part in party organization where these men are even allowed the freedom of the floor by convention rules when conventions are deliberating upon matters having to do with the weal of the state of Colorado.

The line of cleavage is in every sense distinct. The question is not one of securing a majority of good men against a minority of bad men, but rather of removing entirely the power that special interests exercise over the deliberations, the councils, and even the membership of the party.

These differences are fundamental, just as the differences between honor and dishonor, faith and betrayal, decency and indecency, are fundamental. Any attempt to assume that they are factional differences proceeds either from folly or corruption, and in so vital a matter, the fool is as much of a menace as the knave.

In the past it has been the plan where differences arose as between the people and the corporations, as represented by these leaders, to call meetings which were designated as "meetings to bring the factions together." Such harmony meetings have simply condoned, and in a way extenuated the rule of the corporation gang. Progressive Republicans believe that the time has passed when such extenuation can be afforded, or when the acts of these people can be condoned.

An honest and honorable Republican party can only be a party controlled absolutely by the honest men and women who constitute its membership. Any other party organization must be illogical, unreasonable and despicable.

OPEN- PARLIAMENT

A CASE FOR THE HUMANE SOCIETY.
To the Editor of The Gazette:
Out on the commons east of the Springs is a decrepit living skeleton that might, by a stretch of imagination be called a horse. This animal is in company with three or four other horses, also more or less animated but rickety. I am not aware whether Colorado Springs has a humane society or not, but if it has this is surely an opportunity for the exercise of its humane authority. There is no certainty that the poor beasts even have access to water, but the one starved brute should at least be either taken care of or else humanely put out of its misery.
Colorado Springs, Aug. 16
O. W. HUMPHREY.

FROM OTHER PAGES

THE ANSWER TO THE MACHINES.
From the Kansas City Star
The party machines do not attempt to deny the tremendous sweep of the progressive convictions of the people. They do not hide from themselves, at least, their knowledge of the strength that Theodore Roosevelt has with the plain people. They know his wonderful leadership.

But they believe the people are incapable of acting together in politics without the machine organizations. This real or assumed belief is what gives them hope that once they have put over their own manipulated conventions the people may rage but the people will be helpless.

The calls for the local, state and national conventions of the Progressive movement are the people's answer to the cynical assumptions of the political bosses. The people will not sleep while the politicians work. They are organized without the aid of machines and against the machines. With inspiring enthusiasm they are putting their progressive sentiment into direct, purposeful action.

A NATIONAL DISGRACE.
From the Pittsburg Dispatch
While it is grossly unfair to charge the whole New York police force with crime, the record shows an unbroken link between the police system in the metropolis and projected lawbreaking for years. Mayors have come and gone, reform, Republican and Tammany, there have been bi-partisan police commissioners, single police commissioners, men with experience in police administration and without it, men with political training and men like General Bingham with an army record that held out hope of ability to command and enforce discipline. Even Theodore Roosevelt tried it and succeeded no more than some of the others. Legislative investigations like Lexow commission have probed the department. It has been under the eye of vigilant district attorneys but the Rosenthal sensation exceeding in brazen effrontery and reckless defiance of public sentiment all that has gone before, shows conditions to be worse than ever.

the situation. It is unlikely, however, that any change of that sort can be made at present, although if no other remedy appears and public demand for exemplary action in the pending case is not met the experiment might be forced upon an outraged community.

Conditions in New York today, where every morning records the shooting up of some quarter by gangsters, a murderous attack upon a policeman and the fatal wounding of two passing children during a gang fight being the latest incidents, constitute a national disgrace. The world has been shocked at the revelations at Viterbo of the Camorrist in Naples, but it was no whit worse than what everyone believes to be the situation in New York today. Has this cynical challenge to society at last aroused public opinion sufficiently to assure the ultimate overthrow of the system that has so successfully defied all efforts to eradicate it?

HARDLY NECESSARY.
From the Pittsburg Dispatch
There is the strongest testimony to the value of the work done at Panama in the application of countries in the neighborhood—as world geography goes—to the United States government for the loan officers who have made that work a brilliant success. Costa Rica wants to borrow Colonel Goethals as soon as his present task is completed, and Ecuador makes a like application for Colonel Gorgas.

Costa Rica contemplates the building of forts and harbors and wants someone who can be relied upon to see that the work is done honestly and well. The need of Ecuador is for someone who can repeat the work done at Panama—in changing a pesthole to a healthy port. Guayaquil has long held the undesirable fame of being one of the most unhealthy ports in the western hemisphere. Both of them not unnaturally wanted the men who made the greatest records in each field within history.

Of course the request is not one that the government can either refuse or accept. The government can, and doubtless will, reply that it does not object if the officers named desire to undertake them, after years of service in a tropical and trying climate, to continue work in the same climate for foreign governments. It would not be at all strange if, after what they have done at Panama, both Goethals and Gorgas should consider themselves entitled to an extended period of recuperation by assignment to service in temperate latitudes.

Moreover, it is by no means clear that it is necessary to have men of such eminent records sent to Ecuador and Costa Rica, much as those governments may desire it. Probably both of them can recommend younger and less noted men who can carry out the work needed on the lines that they have exemplified in the canal zone.

A Queer Point of View

By RUTH CAMERON.

A group of young girls whose ages ranged from 15 to 18 were discussing the kind of a man they wanted to marry.

Four out of the five declared for a man much older than themselves. Three of them wanted him to be five or ten years older, one wanted a man of at least 50.

The mother of one of the girls was present, and she very heartily applauded this point of view. "Better be an old man's darling than a young man's slave," she quoted titles.

Now I can understand the point of view of the young people, but I simply cannot see how the older woman could have encouraged them in it.

I know that to the young girl there is something splendidly romantic in a man much older than herself. I doubt if there was ever a girl of 16 or 18 who did not desperately admire any man with iron-gray hair and wavy romances of which the hero was a dignified man of 45 or 50 with gray hair and an impressive manner, but the mature woman who will seriously encourage a girl to entertain such ideas I cannot understand.

Indoubtedly there are marriages in which the man is 10 or 15 years older, which turn out happily, just as there are successful marriages in which the disparity is in the opposite direction. But to consider a disparity in either direction as an advantage seems to me very short-sighted.

I wish the woman who is always urging upon her girls the advantages of a much older man as a mate would stop think, and consider. Suppose her girl of 20 meets a man of 32 or 33, and, after a year of courtship, marries him. That means that for 10 years before he had even met her he was a grown man. It means that while she was still a child he was living a decade of mature life. Consider—de that like to produce ideal conditions? Again, a decade of difference in age means a decade of difference in point of view. She is at the age of enthusiasm, he at the age of disillusionment, she is at the age that loves movement and excitement, he probably wants to settle down. And so all along the line their difference in age will probably mean a conflict in desires.

Again a man of 35 or 40 is likely to be just a trifle set in his habits. Now, every truly successful marriage is a compromise of tastes and habits. A compromise which comes and enough even when tastes and habits are planted. But when they are fixed, well, I know of one couple of which the man was 35 and the older who quarreled. He of the old and he, disliking the second night as he was in the bedroom and he should have been in the bath.

NO. 6 WILLIAM MURDOCH

The use of gas for illumination purposes was a revelation to the people of England when at the end of the eighteenth century William Murdoch, after years of experiments, demonstrated that such a power existed. The light that Murdoch flashed upon the world was of men in 1792, especially in the great cities, was of tremendous evangelistic value to them, to speak of none of the other ways in which his great discovery has blessed the human race.

William Murdoch was a miller's son and was born in Avonshire on August 21, 1754. At an early age he arrived in England and secured employment with the firm of Boulton & Watt at Soho. According to a well known story, Boulton was struck on his first interview with Murdoch by the peculiar hat which he was wearing, and Murdoch stated, in answer to Boulton's questions, that it was made of wood and that he had turned it on a lathe of his own making. It appears that Murdoch in his nervousness set the hat fall on the floor, and it was the unusual noise it produced that attracted Boulton's attention.

At the Soho Works near Birmingham, England, Murdoch developed extraordinary mechanical ability, which was observed by his employers, and Murdoch was sent to Cornwall to superintend the fitting up of Watt's steam engines, which were in great demand there.

It was during his stay in Cornwall that Murdoch began the experiments in the distillation of coal gas, which were to result in the great discovery with which his name was to be forever associated.

It was in 1792 that he commenced his investigations, and so intense was his application and so rapid his progress that he was able, the same year, to apply his invention to the purpose of lighting his cottage.

It may be well to stop a moment just here to reflect upon the fact that the wonderful illuminant first flashed forth its brilliancy, not in the drawing rooms of the great and rich, but in the humble home of the poor miller's son away down in bleak, grimy old Cornwall.

Going back to Birmingham about 1797 Murdoch publicly showed the system he had matured, and made such lightninglike progress in the discovery of practical methods of making, storing and purifying the new illuminant that in 1798 he was prepared to light up the great workshop with the wonderful gas.

A gas manufacturing plant was started in the establishment, in a very short time similar plants were installed in neighboring workshops and factories, and the reign of darkness was over.

It is fair to say that Murdoch's fame is not commensurate with the tremendous importance of his discovery. In a venerable and venerated book it is written "The light is sweet." But it is more than "sweet." It is of immense value to us in many ways. Light is the unfailing ally of righteousness and the uncompromising enemy of all sorts of wickedness. In the ancient book just referred to we read "Every one that doeth evil hateth the light." It is as true as the gospel. When the cohorts of evil are ready for business they seek the shadows and the gloom. It is in the darkness, not in the light that wickedness does its work.

The miller's son well deserves a place in the list of the greatest men. He did a great work, and when he died, in 1839, the world lost one of its noblest benefactors.

THOMAS A. EDISON'S PREDICTION ABOUT MOVING PICTURES

From the Woman's Home Companion
In an article about moving pictures, the author commends the use of moving pictures by the churches, and shows how developments along that line will probably come. In the course of the article appear the following paragraphs presenting Mr. Thomas A. Edison's predictions relative to moving pictures:

Mr. Edison, the inventor of the motion picture, believed that their greatest effectiveness will be in education. He wants to make them an integral part of the public school system, and experiments are now being made in his home town of Orange, New Jersey. He has operators in Africa with instructions to take everything from Cape Town to the mouth of the Nile, to be used in teaching geography. Mr. Edison's idea is that moving pictures will take the place of most of the text-books below the ninth grade. He maintains that children will learn geography much more quickly and will have more intelligent understanding through moving pictures, where they can see the actual country, the mountains and the rivers, the wild animals, the savage peoples at work and at play and the life in the cities than would be possible from text books.

"In so far as geography is concerned Mr. Edison has an argument difficult to answer although it is doubtful if it would ever be wise to do away with text books, but one can supplement the text books with moving pictures. He maintains that children will learn geography much more quickly and will have more intelligent understanding through moving pictures, where they can see the actual country, the mountains and the rivers, the wild animals, the savage peoples at work and at play and the life in the cities than would be possible from text books.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 16, 1882.

The Mendelssohn Quintet, a musical club, which was touring the world, gave a much enjoyed concert at the Opera house.

The Duke of Manchester was in the city, as the guest of Col. W. T. Holt. The latter was one of the leading sheep men of Colorado, and had large ranches near Hugo. A postoffice called Holtville, just east of the El Paso county line, was named for him.

The increased travel between Colorado Springs and Manitou made it necessary to add another car to the Manitou train. The D & R G. was the only rail connection between the two towns at this time.

Tom Wanless was down from Crystal park and stated that the hotel there was doing a rushing business, besides which there were 60 or 70 campers in the park.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 16, 1892.

There was a collision at the Huefano street crossing, between a street car and a freight car. Both were moving slowly, and the greatest damage was a broken arm, suffered by one of the passengers on the street car.

An eight-inch water main, at the corner of Wehatch and Williamet avenues burst and did considerable damage to William Clark's nursery and garden.

For the first time in their history the banks of this city were sent to the banks of Denver or Pueblo. In general, they had been drawing about $10,000 a week from these places to get the coin necessary to carry on the business of Colorado Springs but, owing to the large number of tourists in town, during the last two weeks they had shipped $250,000.

THE MASKIN LETTER CAMPAIGN FUNDS IV THE LAWS OF THE STATES

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The protection of the ballot against gross abuses has been the subject of legislation from the time that men first had votes. As far back as the time when Columbus discovered America such offenses against the suffrage as bribery, intimidation and treating were punishable under the common law and by that time there began to be written into the English statutes full definitions of these offenses. America's first corrupt practices laws came by way of Jamestown and Cape Cod, and our best recent laws are modeled after England's present statutes.

A large number of the states have enacted laws requiring publicity for campaign expenditures and contributions. These laws possess widely varying provisions, but all of them aim at the same general purpose. It is interesting to run down through the list of states and see some of the ways in which they attempt to protect the purity of the ballot. Some of the states have enacted a single law covering the entire subject. Others have simply amended and added to old laws from time to time until their statutes have become something of a patchwork.

Alabama has a provision which makes it a penitentiary offense for any person to pay another's poll tax, a poll tax receipt being a prerequisite of voting. Any corporation or employer in that state who threatens to cut down the pay or discharge any employee in order to influence his vote is subject to a fine of $500. Liquor may not be disposed of on the day of, or the day before an election. The Alabama law provides for publicity of contributions and expenses.

When congress came to pass the election law under which the territory of Arizona was governed, it put into about the most stringent clause possessed by any state or territory in the Union. This provides that allowing one's ballot to be seen or making a false statement as to one's inability to make a ballot, is a criminal offense punishable by a fine or imprisonment. Candidates' contributions must be made at meetings when none but candidates are present and failure to file a true statement of receipts and expenditures by a candidate and those who spend money or receive it for his campaign, forfeits the election.

California Law a Rigid One.
A publicity law requiring the publication of contributions and expenditures both before and after a primary or an election is a feature of the Arkansas legislation on the subject of ballot-box protection. In offering a contribution is an offense punishable with a fine of from $25 to $300. The California law is a rigid one. Statements of all expenditures must be submitted after election, accompanied by vouchers for all sums of five dollars and over. The only expenses that may be incurred legally are those of holding public meetings, circulating campaign material and looking after the registration voting and counting the ballots. A candidate cannot spend more than $100 for maintaining headquarters and a committee cannot spend more than $1,000 for that purpose. Candidates in primaries cannot spend more than specified sums, dependent on the size of the vote in the preceding general election. Corporations attempting to influence the votes of their employees by threatening to shut down or reduce pay in the event of the election of certain candidates, forfeit their charters.

In Colorado the legislature in 1909 passed an act limiting the expenditure of any candidate to 40 per cent of the first year's salary of the office for which he is a candidate. The making of contributions by others or by corporations is a felony, and it is the receiving of such contributions by a candidate for office, corporations attempting to influence the votes of their employees by threatening to shut down or reduce pay in the event of the election of certain candidates, forfeit their charters.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN ALASKA PRESENT CANAL BILL

Government Will Be Obligated to Supply Emergency Rations for Some Time to Come

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Alaska has not yet recovered from the effects of the volcanic eruption of Mount Katmai in June and the federal government will be obliged to furnish emergency rations and supplies to many people for some time to come. The people of Kodiak island are in need of the quickest attention. Their vegetable crops were ruined. Secretary MacVeagh has ordered 10 tons of potatoes from Seattle, to prevent scurvy breaking out among the inhabitants. Adognak island is recovering to some extent but will need emergency rations during the coming winter. The people on the main land who were rendered homeless by the eruption have established a new town 110 miles west of the volcano and christened it Perry in honor of Captain Perry of the revenue cutter Manning, whose heroic work in rescuing 1,500 people during the catastrophe brought forth a letter of commendation from President Taft. The new city is flourishing and needs no assistance.

The money invested in railways in Great Britain is estimated at nearly $7,000,000,000.

SATISFIES OBJECTORS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—It is said to be reasonably certain no further protest will be made by Great Britain on behalf of English mercantile interests against the Panama canal bill if it takes finally the form reported yesterday from the conference committee. The British objection was laid against discrimination against British shipping. As such shipping is not now privileged to enter into the American coastwise trade, which alone is to receive favored treatment in the canal, that objection is overcome.

It is regarded as possible, however, that in deference to Canada, the British government may be led to object to the prohibition against the passage of railroad-owned ships, but state department officials are confident objection will not hold under the treaty, as prohibition is to apply to American vessels as well as others and there could be no charge of discrimination there.

Boilers, as big as a house, such as the new water tube affairs recently tested at one of the stations of the Detroit Edison company and the house would be a good-sized one, 25 feet deep, 31 feet long and 34 feet high for that is the size of this monster steamboiler.

HUSBAND-SLAYER ON TRIAL

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Florence Bernstein, the 22-year-old widow on trial for killing her husband, was ready today to testify in her own defense.

"Future transitoria" was to be the plea of the prisoner, according to her counsel. Her testimony promised to be sensational.

"Future transitoria," Mrs. Bernstein's counsel explained, is a state of mental aberration, the result of violent hysterical agitation.

Dressed in mourning Mrs. Bernstein took the witness stand and told of her early married life. She frequently broke down and cried.

Mrs. Bernstein testified that on January 1, 1909, when she refused to attend a wedding with her husband, he struck her and internally injured her.

"And when I asked him to send for a doctor," she said, "he refused."

WOULD RESTRICT PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Senator Bacon today continued his attack on the use of the American army and navy for intervention in disordered countries and offered a bill to restrict the use of those forces by the executive branch of the government.

The measure would make it impossible for the president to order troops into a foreign country when congress is in session without authorization by congress.

Senator Bacon had presented a similar provision as an amendment to the army appropriation bill last night but it was rejected.

As a result of work by its boy scouts, Weir, Kan., now prides itself on being the cleanest town in America. The scouts there had a "cleaning up day" recently, on which they hauled away all rubbish from the streets and vacant lots. They also induced the city council to adopt an ordinance that will help to make the good work permanent.
